ENGINEER DISTINCTIVE INSIGNIA

CONTENTS: This catalog contains the known distinctive insignia (DIs) worn by units of the Corps of Engineers. The catalog consists of three parts, that will be published in two volumes.

Volume 1: Contains Part I, numbers 1 - 426.

Volume 2: Contains Part I, numbers 427 to end; plus Parts II and III.

PARTS:

Part I: Contains insignia classified by ASMIC as Class A, B, C & D. Each DI will receive its own distinct designation, or "ASMIC Number". The unit's numerical designation is listed first and is followed by a capital letter in alphabetical order assigned to each different unit. The various DIs for that unit will then be assigned a numerical suffix in progressive order, based on the age of the insignia, starting with the oldest insignia receiving the suffix 1. The ASMIC number will always be in the upper left corner of each description.

For those units that are named vice numbered, the ASMIC number will consist of a capital letter, arbitrarily assigned followed by a number in sequence beginning with 1, followed by another capital letter starting with A. Variations of DIs of the same unit will be designated by variations of the second letter A through Z. Units assigned the same initial capital letter will be designated by varying the number from 1 and progressing in numerical order.

PART II- Contains insignia classified by ASMIC as Class E, F, FR, FRE, or L. These are insignia that have never been worn by troops. Such DIs will have an ASMIC number determined as described in Part I, but always with a prefix "Z". Only those DIs in Part II will have a prefix Z.

PART III- Contains cloth insignia that are of normal or typical DI size and which were worn era "c" or later. Generally these pieces are those that are embroidered or woven on the green combat leader's tab. All insignia shown in PART III will have the prefix "Y". Only those cloth DIs in Part III will have a prefix Y.

Organization

Line 1: ASMIC Number, Complete Unit Designation (Class/Era)

Line 2: Component - Location/Division (Previous ASMIC Numbers)

Line 3 - End: Description (Size), Description Code.

Line End + 1: Authorization, Approval, Redesignation Dates.

Line End + 2: Notes.

CLASSIFICATION: A code describing the design, manufacture and usage of DIs as listed below. The classification of "class" is shown on the first line of the entry in bold face type as an upper case letter enclosed in parentheses with the era worn.

(A) The insignia worn by the unit, samples of which have been approved by the Adjutant General, the Office of the Quartermaster General, or, since 1963, the Institute of Heraldry, U.S. Army (IOH).

(B) Insignia made from an authentic drawing or blazon developed by the Institute of Heraldry and made from dies developed by the Institute of Heraldry. Such pieces become an (A) piece when the unit receives approval for it to be worn.

(C) Insignia worn by the unit, the design of which may or may not have been authorized by the Institute of Heraldry, or its predecessors, and samples of the DI have not been approved by IOH or its predecessors.

(D) Samples made for a unit with the intent that they be worn by the unit, but either not accepted by the unit or the unit was inactivated prior to receiving the insignia. Never worn by troops.

(E) Insignia invented and made by a collector on the basis of drawings, blazon or whim for sale to collectors, veterans associations, etc. Never worn by troops.

(F) An exact, or reasonably exact, copy or reproduction of an existing genuine insignia. May have been made by copying an existing insignia or correct drawing, such as an ASMIC catalog or Trading Post entry, or an approval drawing by IOH. Made for sale to collectors, veterans associations, etc. Never worn by troops.

(FR) A piece which has been restruck from an existing legitimate die originally used for class (A), (B), (C), or (D) insignia and made in proper colors, plating, piercing, etc. Such insignia will differ from the original type only in type of fastener, hallmark and age. Never worn by troops.

(FRE) An insignia which has been restruck from an existing legitimate die used for class (A), (B), (C), or (D) insignia and made in incorrect colors, plating, or piercing etc. It is considered an error restrike and was never worn by troops.

(L) A device similar to a distinctive insignia made for some purpose other than wear as a distinctive insignia, i.e.: lighter pieces, lapel pins, bridle rosettes, regimental favors, plaque pieces.

ERA: A code indicating the time period during which the DI appeared and was used. The era is shown as a lower case letter separated from the class by a slash, all enclosed in parentheses.

ERA:

MJ - Mess Jacket insignia prior to advent of DIs in 1922.

a - 1922-1939 - Pre WWII era.

b - 1940- 1947 - WWII era.

c - 1948-1959 - Korean War and post Korean War era.

d - 1960-1980 - Vietnam and post Vietnam era.

e -- 1981 - present

If the exact era is unknown then an 'x' should be used e.g. (C/x).

It should also be recognized that a closer dating may be given in the textual description of the DI. For example, if a DI is noted as a beer can that would place it in the time frame of 1960-1973 even though the era would be shown as "d".

COMPONENT: The component of the Army is indicated on the second line as RA = Regular Army, AUS = Army of the United States, NG = National Guard, OR + Organized Reserves, ORC = Organized Reserve Corps, RAI = Regular Army, Inactive, and USAR = Army Reserve. Where the location of the unit is known it is shown by the abbreviation for the Division or state in which it is located.

CATALOG NUMBERS: Catalog numbers used in this catalog are newly assigned and have no relationship to prior catalog numbers. Previous catalog numbers are shown at the end of second line in parentheses. Where the DI shown has previously been cataloged in a different catalog such as SCHOOL or MISCELLANEOUS, this is indicated.

MEASUREMENTS: Measurements are shown in parentheses at the end of the description. They are to the nearest millimeter and always listed as (height x width). Often pieces vary in size. If a DI varies by at least 2mm in one direction, it is listed as a variation and given a distinctive ASMIC number. If a DI varies by 1 mm in both directions it may or not be considered as a distinct variation. If it is it will be assigned a distinctive ASMIC number, if not it will be noted as a minor variation under NOTE. Pieces that vary by 1 mm in one direction will be listed as a minor variation under NOTE. In some cases for Viet Nam made DIs (beercans), because of the many variations in sizes, variations in size, not exceeding 2mm in one direction and identical in design and shape, may be listed as minor variations under NOTE.

COLORS: All colors, except black, white and yellow will be noted as opaque (op) or transparent (tr), yellow is presumed op unless noted. Where the DI is made with IOH tools the IOH color chip number is shown, except for black, white and red, no number is given. Chip number is given only once, at initial usage.

INSIGNIA DESCRIPTION CODE: Following the description and size is the Insignia Description Code, which describes the type of manufacture, backing (clasp), hallmark and country of origin. The code is organized as follows:

TYPE PIECE/ BACKING; HALLMARK/ COUNTRY OF ORIGIN
All codes that are utilized in the entries are contained in the DI CATALOG HANDBOOK. Not all categories will be noted for each insignia. For example:

TYPE PIECE - No entry for enamelled DIs.
BACKING - No entry for clutch backs. S/P means that the DI could be either screw back or pin back, P/C means that a DI could be either pin back or clutch back. The entry for backing does not preclude other type backings, but is the best estimate of known backings and what would have been used in the era the DI was worn.
HALLMARK: Always an entry, if known. If there is no hallmark, the abbreviation NH is used. Where three or more current manufacturers have made the piece the abbreviation CM is used.
COUNTRY OF ORIGIN. No entry if US made.

AUTHORIZED/APPROVED DATES: Following the description are the dates the DI was authorized (auth), approved (appr) or redesignated (redes) by IOH or its predecessors. Date of approval is the date the first sample was approved. Only Class "A" DIs will have both an authorization and approval dates. Those redesignations that are pertinent to understanding the DI's lineage are listed. Where the last redesignation shows a date but no unit, it infers that the redesignation date is for the current unit designation.

NOTE: Follow the authorization, approval and redesignation dates. The word: NOTE will be followed by information of interest, such as:
Minor variations
Cross references to other listings of DIs related to the described DI.

ENGINEER DISTINCTIVE INSIGNIA

CONTENTS: This catalog contains the known distinctive insignia (DIs) worn by units of the Corps of Engineers. The catalog consists of three parts, that will be published in two volumes

Volume 1: Contains Part I, numbers 1 - 426.

Volume 2. Contains Part I, numbers 427 to end; plus Parts II and III

PARTS:

Part I: Contains insignia classified by ASMIC as Class A, B, C & D. Each DI will receive its own distinct designation, or "ASMIC Number". The unit's numerical designation is listed first, followed by a capital letter in alphabetical order assigned to each different unit. The various DI's for that unit will then be assigned a numerical suffix in progressive order, based on the age of the insignia starting with the oldest insignia receiving the suffix 1. The ASMIC number will always be in the upper left corner of each description.

For those units that are named vice numbered, the ASMIC number will consist of a capital letter, arbitrarily assigned followed by a number in sequence beginning with 1, followed by another capital letter starting with A. Variations of DIs of the same unit will be designated by variations of the second letter A through Z. Different units assigned the same initial capital letter will be designated by varying the number from 1 and progressing in numerical order.

PART II: Contains insignia classified by ASMIC as Class E, F, FR, FRE, or L. These are insignia that have never been worn by troops. Such DIs will have an ASMIC number determined as described in Part I, but always with a prefix "Z". Only those DIs in Part II will have a prefix "Z".

PART III: Contains cloth insignia that are of normal or typical DI size and were worn era "c" or later. Generally these pieces are those that are embroidered or woven on the green combat leader's tab. All insignia shown in PART III will have the prefix "Y". Only those cloth DIs in Part III will have a prefix "Y".

Organization:

Line 1: ASMIC Number, Complete Unit Designation (Class/Era)

Line 2: Component Location/Division (Previous ASMIC Number)

Line 3 - End: Description (Size), Description Code.

Line End + 1: Authorization, Approval, Redesignation Dates.

Line End +2: Notes.

CLASSIFICATION: A code describing the design, manufacture and usage of DI's as listed below. The classification or "class" is shown on the first line of the entry in bold face type as an upper case letter enclosed in parentheses with the era worn.

(A) The insignia worn by the unit, samples of which have been approved by the Adjutant General, the Office of the Quartermaster General, or since 1963, The Institute of Heraldry, U.S. Army (IOH).

(B) Insignia made from an authentic drawing or blazon developed by The Institute of Heraldry and made from dies developed by The Institute of Heraldry. Such pieces become an (A) piece when the unit receives approval for it to be worn.

(C) Insignia worn by the unit, the design of which may or may not have been authorized by The Institute of Heraldry, or its predecessors, and samples of the DI have not been approved by IOH or its predecessors.

(D) Samples made for a unit with the intent that they be worn by the unit, but either not accepted by the unit or the unit was inactivated prior to receiving the insignia. Never worn by troops.

(E) Insignia invented and made by a collector on the basis of drawings, blazons or whims for sale to collectors, veterans' associations, etc. Never worn by troops.

(F) An exact, or reasonably exact, copy or reproduction of an existing genuine insignia. May have been made by copying an existing insignia or correct drawing, such as an ASMIC catalog or Trading Post entry, or an approval drawing by IOH. Made for sale to collectors, veterans' associations, etc. Never worn by troops.

(FR) A piece which has been restruck from an existing legitimate die originally used for class (A), (B), (C), or (D) insignia and made in proper colors, plating, piercing, etc. Such insignia will differ from the original type only in type of fastener, hallmark and age. Never worn by troops.

(FRE) An insignia which has been restruck from an existing legitimate die used for class (A), (B), (C), or (D) insignia and made in incorrect colors, plating, or piercing etc. It is considered an error restrike and was never worn by troops.

(L) A device similar to a distinctive insignia made for some purpose other than wear as a distinctive insignia, i.e.: lighter pieces, lapel pins, bridle rosettes, regimental favors, plaque pieces.

ERA: A code indicating the time period during which the DI appeared and was used. The era is shown as a lower case letter separated from the class by a slash, all enclosed in parentheses.

ERA:

MJ - Mess Jacket insignia prior to advent of DIs in 1922.

a - 1922 - 1939 - Pre WWII era.

b - 1940 - 1947 - WWII era.

c - 1948-1959 - Korean War and post Korean War era.

d - 1960 - 1980 - Vietnam and post Vietnam era.

e - 1981 - present.

If the exact era is unknown then an 'x' should be used e.g. (C/x)

It should also be recognized that a closer dating may be given in the textual description of the DI. For example, if a DI is noted as a beer can that would place it in the time frame of 1960-1973 even though the era would be shown as "d".

COMPONENT: The component of the Army is indicated on the second line as RA = Regular Army, AUS = Army of the United States, NG = National Guard, OR = Organized Reserves, ORC = Organized Reserve Corps, RAI = Regular Army, Inactive, and USAR = Army Reserve. Where the location of the unit is known it is shown by the abbreviation for the Division or state in which it is located.

CATALOG NUMBERS: Catalog numbers used in this catalog are newly assigned and have no relationship to prior catalog numbers. Previous catalog numbers are shown at the end of the second line in parentheses. Where the DI shown has previously been cataloged in a different catalog such as SCHOOL or MISCELLANEOUS, this is indicated.

MEASUREMENTS: Measurements are shown in parentheses at the end of the description. They are to the nearest millimeter and always listed as (height x width). Often pieces vary in size. If a DI varies by at least 2mm in one direction, it is listed as a variation and given a distinctive ASMIC number. If a DI varies by 1 mm in both directions it may or not be considered as a distinct variation. If it is, it will be assigned a distinctive ASMIC number. If not it will be noted as a minor variation under NOTE. Pieces that vary by 1 mm in one direction will be listed as a minor variation under NOTE. In some cases for Viet Nam made DIs (beer cans), because of the many variations in sizes, not exceeding 2mm in one direction and identical in design and shape, may be listed as minor variations under NOTE.

COLORS: All colors, except black, white and yellow will be noted as opaque (op) or transparent (tr). Yellow is presumed op unless noted. Where the DI is made with IOH tools the IOH color chip number is shown, except for black, white and red, no number is given. Chip number is given only once, at initial usage.

INSIGNIA DESCRIPTION CODE: Following the description and size is the insignia Description Code, which describes the type of manufacture, backing (clasp), hallmark and country of origin. The code is organized as follows:

TYPE PIECE / BACKING: HALLMARK / COUNTRY OF ORIGIN:

All codes that are utilized in the entries are contained in the DI CATALOG HANDBOOK. Not all categories will be noted for each insignia. For example:

TYPE PIECE: No entry for enamelled DIs.

BACKING: No entry for clutch backs. S/P means that the DI could be either screw back or pin back, P/C means that a DI could be either pin back or clutch back. The entry for backing does not preclude other type backings, but is the best estimate of known backings and what would have been used in the era the DI was worn.

HALLMARK: Always an entry, if known. If there is no hallmark, the abbreviation NH is used. Where three or more current manufacturers have made the piece the abbreviation CM is used.

COUNTRY OF ORIGIN: No entry if US made.

AUTHORIZED/APPROVED DATES: Following the description are the dates the DI was authorized (auth), approved (appr) or redesignated (redes) by IOH or its predecessors. Date of approval is the date the first sample was approved. Only Class "A" DIs will have both an authorization and approval dates those redesignation that are pertinent to understanding the DI's lineage are listed. Where the last redesignation shows a date but no unit, it infers that the redesignation date is for the current unit designation.

NOTE: Follows the authorization, approval and redesignation dates. The word: NOTE will be followed by information of interest, such as:

- Minor variations
- Cross references to other listings of DIs related to the described DI.

Cloth Patch Insignia

Of the
U. S. Armed Forces
Part 5
Engineers

Published by
The American Society of Military Insignia Collectors

This is Part V of the Cloth Insignia Catalog covering the ENGINEER branch of the U.S. Army.

The letter in parentheses after the designation indicates the time period the insignia was used.

- (a) Period of World War I
- (b) From 1920 to 1940
- (c) During World War II
- (d) From 1945 to 1965
- (e) From 1965 on

(S) or (P) at the end of each description indicates it was a shoulder or pocket patch. Where there is no designation we do not have knowledge concerning the position it was worn.

Compiling a catalog such as this involves time and work. Since it is a "spare-time" project there are bound to be delays and interruptions. I regret that it has taken so long to get this out to the membership.

Much credit goes to Ervin Schweig for his recording and sketching patches he sees at conventions, get-togethers, and in other collections. Many members would not take the time to report them. How else would we know? I say, "Thank you, Erv.", but this is a highly inadequate way of expressing our appreciation.

Ray Morrone went all out, too, with supplying us with fine color photographs of his many Engineer insignia from which sketches were made. Many thanks for your cooperation, Ray.

Thanks, too, to Col. Evan Murdock, Ed Seis, and David Bruce who gave us much information and loaned their patches for sketching.

Our thanks and appreciation also go to Myron Moskey, Charles Edwards, Manny Scoulas, Steve Richards, Mark Hough, Andy Reis, Jim Hess, and any others who have helped add to this compilation.

Undoubtedly there are Engineer insignia which we have missed. We would appreciate your letting us know about them so they may be included in a future addenda.
